TAX GUIDE

2019-20

Foreword

Income tax is the unfortunate reality of income. If given a choice, most of us wouldn't want to pay tax on the income we earn. But we should, because the income tax we pay is an important source of revenue for the government. As citizens of India, we are also consumers of the country's public infrastructure and facilities. When we want these facilities and infrastructure to improve, it is also our duty and responsibility to contribute towards building and maintaining it. Paying income tax and filing income tax returns is one way of doing that.

1.1 What is an Income Tax?

Income tax is a tax levied directly on the income of an individual/organization/business by the government for the purpose of financing its various operations.

There are two types of income tax - direct tax and the newly launched Goods and Services Tax (GST) which subsumed all other indirect taxes such as VAT, service tax, excise etc.

Income tax collected by government is not only used for various government schemes but also acts as a fiscal stabilizer that aid in distributing wealth evenly among the population.

According to the Income Tax Act of India, income from the following sources is considered taxable:

Income from salary
Income from house property
Income from profits and gains of business or profession
Income from capital gains
Income from other sources

1.2 Why do you have to file Income Tax Returns?

Irrespective of whether you live in India currently or not, filing an income tax return is compulsory, if your total Indian income exceeds Rs.2,50,000.

Even if you don't meet the Rs.2,50,000 threshold, it's a good practice to file or e-file your income tax return. An income tax return is an important document that you must produce at the time of availing a home loan, as it reflects your financial prosperity. An income tax return as a proof of income shows your capacity to repay a loan.

If you are planning to go abroad for higher studies or are about to take up a job outside of India, you'll need at least three years' filed income tax returns to show as proof of income. People processing your visa application may request for this financial information to evaluate your financial health, which in return shows that you can support yourself on your own in their country.

1.3 What is Income from Other Sources?

Income from other sources is a residual category used to classify income that is not classified taxed under any other head of income. Income from other sources must be calculated by the taxpayer based on the mercantile system used by the taxpayer, i.e cash basis or accrual basis. In this article, we look at income from other sources in detail along with list of allowed deductions.

Items Classified as Income from Other Sources

Apart from income that cannot be classified under any other heads, there are certain types of incomes which are always taxed under income from other sources. Such incomes are as under:

Dividends are always taxed under income from other sources. However, dividends from domestic company are normally exempt from tax, as the company declaring dividend pays dividend distribution tax

Winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles, races including horse races, card game and other game of any sort, gambling or betting of any form is classified as income from other sources

Interest received on compensation or on enhanced compensation is taxed under the head "Income from other sources"

Gifts received by an individual or HUF (which are chargeable to tax) are also taxed under this head

The following types of income can be classified as Income from Other Sources, if it is not taxed under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession":

- Any contribution to a fund for welfare of employees received by the employer
- Income received by way of interest on securities
- Income from letting out or hiring of plant, machinery or furniture
- Income from letting out of plant, machinery or furniture along with building; both the lettings are inseparable
- Money received under a Key Man Insurance Policy including bonus

1.4 Understanding Income Tax in India

Income tax refers to the tax levied by the government for financing its various operations. Taxes are of two types, direct and indirect. Whereas Income Tax is a direct tax, VAT, service tax, excise and the latest one to subsume all these taxes Goods and Services Tax (GST) are all indirect taxes.

Apart from funding the activities of the government, taxes also act as a fiscal stabilizer that aid in distributing wealth evenly among the population. Furthermore, taxes are instrumental in cushioning the effects of economic cycles. The payment of Income Tax in India is made according to the provisions made under the Income Tax Act.

According to the Indian Income Tax laws, income from the following sources is deemed taxable:

Salaries	Income from house property	Profits and gains of business or profession	Capital gains	Income from other sources
----------	----------------------------	---	---------------	---------------------------

The sum of income from all the sources above is calculated according to the provisions of Income Tax Act. The tax rates in India vary according to the earnings of an individual and are referred to as Income Tax slabs. These Income Tax rates are revised every year during the budget. Income tax is calculated on an annual basis. It is levied on the income earned in the previous year which is also known as the Assessment Year. In the eyes of the law, the Financial Year begins on the 1st of April in a given year and ends on the 31st of March of the following year.

1.5 Save Income Tax

While the government expects you to pay income tax, it also allows you to legally save on income tax. You don't have to pay income tax if you earn less than Rs.2.5 lakh in a year. Income more than that is taxed as per different slabs, with the tax rates going up with increase in income. No matter how much taxable income you earn, there are certain exemptions and deductions available to all individual and HUF taxpayers that can be used to pay less income tax.

Tax saving options in India

The most popular tax-saving options available to individuals and HUFs in India are under Section 80C of the Income Tax Act. Section 80C includes various investments and expenses that can be used to claim deductions. The Section 80C limit is Rs.1.5 lakh in a financial year, which means that you can use this entire amount to reduce your taxable income.

Saving tax beyond Section 80C

Apart from the deductions available under Section 80C, there are various other Section 80 deductions that can also be claimed to save on income tax. These deductions include health insurance premiums, tax benefits on home loans, Another way to save tax is by creating a Hindu Undivided Family (HUF). An HUF can be created by married Hindu individuals. An HUF would include the creator, who is called Karta, and his or her family members. The advantage of an HUF is that you can split your income between two entities—yourself as an individual taxpayer and the HUF. This way, you can avail the same tax-saving deductions twice.

How to plan your tax-saving investments for the year

The best time to start planning your tax-saving investments is at the beginning of the financial year. Most taxpayers procrastinate till the last quarter of the year and end up taking hurried decisions. Instead, if you plan at the start of the year, you can make investments that can also help you fulfill your long-term goals. Tax-saving investments should be used to build wealth as well, not only to just save tax.

Use the following pointers to plan your tax-saving for the year:

- Check the tax-saving expenses that you're already making that you can claim. This includes expenses like insurance premium, children's tuition fees, etc
- Deduct this amount from 1.5 lakh to figure out how much to invest. The entire amount doesn't need to be invested if expenses are covering it
- Choose tax-saving investments based on your goals and profile. ELSS funds, PPF, NPS and fixed deposits are some of the popular options

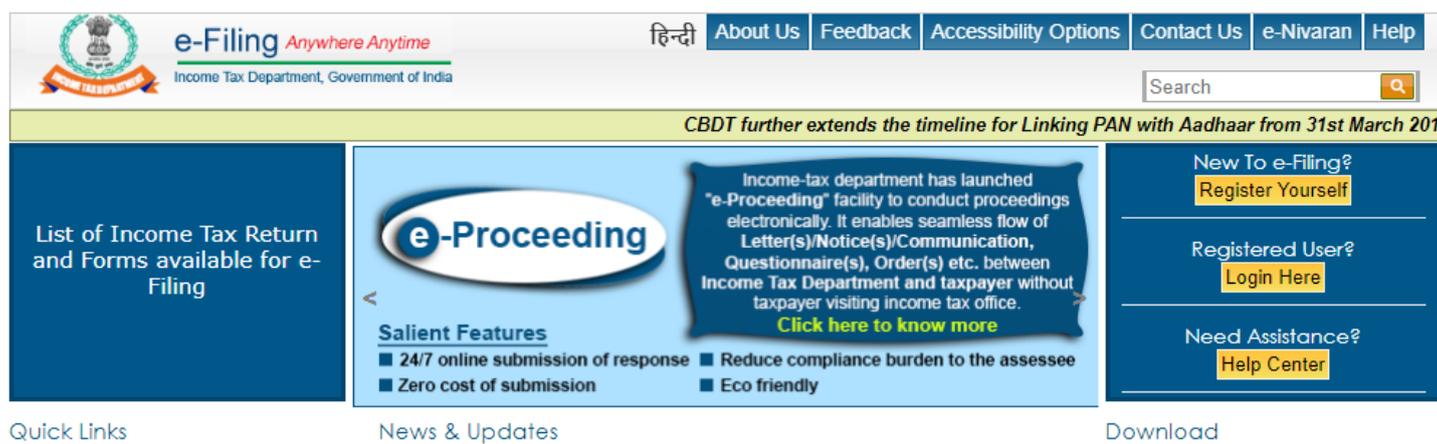

This way, you can figure out how much you need to invest to save taxes. It is best to begin investing in the first quarter of the financial year so that you can spread the investments over the year. Doing this won't burden you at the end of the year and will also allow you to make informed investment decisions.

For instance, in some cases, more than five returns may be filed yours, wife, mother, mother-in-law and the Hindu undivided family (HUF) of which you are the Karta, the executor of a will
- If your name mentioned in your bank documents or official statements is even slightly different from the one given in the PAN card, the portal will consider you a different individual. - If a non-resident Indian must file income tax returns, he will need both an India number and a foreign number

1. TDS on additional payments made when purchasing immovable property

From September 1, 2019, while buying a property, you will have to include the payment made for other services or amenities such as club membership fee, car parking fee, electricity and water facility fee and so on when computing the amount paid for the property for the purpose of deducting TDS.

2. TDS on cash withdrawals from bank account

Cash withdrawals exceeding Rs 1 crore on aggregate basis during the year from an account held with a bank, cooperative bank or post office will invite levy of TDS from September 1. The move is aimed at discouraging large cash transactions and also to promote a less cash economy. A new section 194N has been inserted in the Income Tax Act which defines that TDS will be levied at the rate of two per cent on cash withdrawals made from the account.

3. TDS on payments made by individuals and HUFs to contractors and professionals

From September 1, individuals and HUFs making a payment to contractors and professionals exceeding Rs 50 lakh in aggregate per annum will also be required to deduct TDS at the rate of 5 per cent.

This would mean that individuals making payments over this limit for house renovation, wedding functions or for any other purpose to a single professional in a year would be required to deduct tax at the time of making the payment.

A new section 194N has been inserted in the Income Tax Act for this purpose. However, in order to provide ease of compliance, individuals and HUFs, deducting the tax will not be required to obtain TAN (tax deduction account number). The new law will be applicable to all the payments made by the individual whether for personal use or for business purposes (in case their accounts are not required to be audited.)

4. TDS on non-exempt portion of life insurance

If life insurance maturity proceeds received by you are taxable in your hands, then TDS will be deducted at the rate of five per cent on the net income portion. The net income portion is defined as the total sum received less of total amount of insurance premium paid.

Currently, proceeds received at the maturity of a life insurance policy are exempted from tax if the annual premium paid does not exceed 10 per cent (20 per cent in case of insurance policies sold prior to April 2012) of the sum assured.

5. Banks and FIs can be asked to report even small transactions

Till now banks and other financial institutions are required to report specified financial transactions if the amount exceeded the threshold limit. In most of the reportable transactions, the limit has been Rs 50,000 or more. These transactions were to be reported to the income tax department through a Statement of Financial Transactions (SFT) required to be filed by all banks and FIs.

However, the government has widened the scope of reporting requirement for such transactions by removing the minimum floor of Rs 50,000, above which financial transactions are required to be reported. This has been done via legislation introduced in the last budget. This means that from September 1, banks and FIs can be asked to report even small transactions to the tax department which in turn can use the data to check your ITR.

6. If PAN is not linked with Aadhaar

As per rules existing prior to changes announced in July Budget 2019 PAN would have become invalid if not linked with Aadhaar by a specified deadline. This would have meant that in case of a person's PAN becoming invalid, it would be treated as if the person never had a PAN. However, to protect the validity of previous transactions done using the PAN, Budget 2019 changed the rules such that PAN will become now become inoperative but not invalid if not linked with Aadhaar by the specified deadline.

7. Inter-changeability of PAN and Aadhaar and mandatory quoting in prescribed transactions

Another important announcement in Budget 2019 was inter-changeability of PAN and Aadhaar. Aadhaar can be quoted in lieu of PAN only for certain prescribed transactions. Though the new law comes into effect from September 1, the government is yet to notify the certain prescribed transactions.
